

Drum Kit Lessons!

Dear Parents and Guardians,

My name is Stuart Provan and I am a Freelance Musician and Drum Tutor working and living in the South London Area.

I teach at a number of schools, and on a private basis alongside my work as a studio & touring musician and every Tuesday I have the pleasure of teaching at St Cyprians Academy during the school term.

I currently have space for new students from the start of this term and am offering lessons on a first come first serve basis.

The lessons take place on a Tuesday during school hours and comprise of a 30 minute 1 to 1 lesson, tailored to the needs of each students abilities and goals. The cost for each lesson is £15, and is paid in advance of each half term.

I am able to teach all ages and abilities from beginner to advanced and cover all aspects and styles of playing, as well as being able to enter students for their graded examinations should they wish to.

The drums are a fun, challenging and exciting instrument for anybody to learn and can be a fantastic way to improve listening skills, creativity, self –confidence, discipline, and above all inspire.

If you are interested in lessons or have any questions please send a message to stuartprovandrums@hotmail.co.uk with:

- Your name,
- child's name and age
